Some of the old line Republicans now assert that Jones never was a very good Republican anyhow. They may pity John P. for what they think is the mistake of his life, but the APPEAL's advice to them is that they do not lose any sleep over it.

CAST UP FROM THE SEA.

A Ship Goes Down With all on Board.

Yesterday a boy who was digging clams in the vicinity of the Empire beach, found a sealed bottle which had the appearance of having been a long time in the water.

The condition of the bottle, which was a small wicker demijohn, showed plainly that it had been sealed and cast overboard by some perishing crew of wrecked mariners. The bottle was broken by the editor of the APPEAL with a wooden mallet and the following document was found inside:

"At sea, latitude and longitude unknown, Sept. 4, 1894. Knowing that our time is short we send this last message to those on earth who will survive us. We have been drifting about without rudder or compass. We lost our rudder August 24th in the Reno shoals, and our compass has been out of order for a long time. We have been for months on the look out for the rescue brig, John P. Jones, en route from Washington, but as yet she has not been sighted, although our look-out man, Tremmor Coffin, has been up night and day. The silver waves have been dashing over our lee scuppers, sweeping every thing clean. We have kept two shifts at the pumps but the water is gaining fast and there being a strong sea we can make no headway but drift at the mercy of the waves.

Capt. A. C. Cleveland is doing the best he can but the crew are nearly starved and can hold out but a few days. Skipper Torreyson and First Mate Grey are sick in the fore-castle, and Coffin is distributing the leather covers of some old law books among the mess for food.

The heat is terrible, the copper sun blazing all day upon the copper sea. H. M. Verington and D. L. Bliss were up all last night pumping manfully but could not reduce the water in the hold.

Scurvy threatens the crew. Joe Eckley, George Richards and Orvis Ring are down with it. Bartine, at the wheel, is cussed for recommending the course which steered the ship into its present latitude.

This morning there was a cry of "sail ho" which cheered every heart. It was supposed to be the Jones brig with supplies, but on nearing it was found to be only a small raft consisting of a few planks commanded by Doc Hogan and Ben Curler.

Our food and water are giving out and we cast this bottle into the sea and commend ourselves to God in the hope that he may have mercy on our souls."

Signed, Ship Republican,
Enoch Strother,
Ship Master.

REPUBLICAN SCHOOL BOARD.

How John Meder Lets a Fat Contract.

EDITOR APPEAL:

At our last school election the citizens of Carson saw fit to elect a Republican School Board. John P. Meder, the clerk, instead of using the school fund for the education of our children, let a fat contract for the painting of the school house to his brother by the day, and the way the job is being strung out will cost the county a large sum of money before the job is done. In fact he has stuck to the job so long that our children are deprived of a month schooling.

The contract was let without being advertised as the law provides, and I would like to know if our present District Attorney will allow the bill to be paid when it comes in.

A TAXPAYER.
[If the work costs less than $500 it can be let without advertising. The bills have not yet been presented. Ed. APPEAL.]

A Threshing Machine Burned.

The threshing machine belonging to Nelse Morrison was destroyed by fire Wednesday. The wind was blowing hard and sparks from the engine started a fire in the stack. In the excitement one of the hands took a pitchfork to separate the fire from the stack and thus scattered it. In a few minutes everything was ablaze. The machine and about a ton of grain were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $1000.

School Supplies.

All the new text-books, tablets, type-writer material, scholars' companions, slates, satchels, etc., etc., at Cagwin & Notawares. They also have just received a new lot of bibles and prayer books.

A REJECTED LETTER.

A Paper that Refuses to Retract its Lies.

It is a time honored custom in newspaper offices when a citizen is maligned or misrepresented, to publish free of charge his letter or denial. Some days ago the Tribune published a list of names purporting to be voters of Douglas county who had left the Silver party.

Among them were the names of R. Raycraft and his brothers. The Raycrafts are all straight silver men, and the publication in the Tribune called forth the following letter. It was sent to the Tribune office, but the publisher of that paper always makes a rule never to retract a lie once told, or allow the man lied about the use of its columns, and so the following letter was refused publication.

Genoa, Sept. 6th, 1894.
To the editor of the Tribune:
I see by your paper of the 3'd that we are in opposition to the Silver Party. Now I want this corrected. We are not in opposition to the Silver party and when we signed our names to the paper we thought that the Silver party and the Populist's party were just the same, and we only favored a convention in Reno to be held on the 6th to nominate a State ticket. Furthermore, we don't want to make a split in the party, and we don't care a damn where the convention is held. We are the people and we are in favor of Free Coinage, and we do not wish to be misrepresented.

Yours Respectfully,
R. Raycraft.
